NOTES ON A VIRGINIA TRIP.

Nine hundred guests were enjoying the charms of the Hygeia at Old Point when I sawed my signature on the register. This took nearly every room in the gorgeous hotel, but the clerk was an old friend and stowed me away beautifully. The building is nearly entirely surrounded by water and the land-claims that no land breezes come to worry his guests, but landlords are not all disciples of the Father of his Country in that he could not tell a lie, and the Hygeia man is not above suspicion since he charges $4 a day for rooms fronting on the sea and $3 for those landward. Perhaps the extra dollar is for the marine view, said to be the finest in the world. All kinds of craft are visible on the broad expanse of water that greets you, from the frowning man-of-war to the peaceful oyster sloop. Sitting on the piazza, I counted the vessels of all kinds in front of me and I could not doubt have doubled the number by looking in every direction. The harbor is one of the finest on the Atlantic and many vessels make it a point to lay up in it for repairs before striking across the ocean. There is always one or more men-of-war in sight and a visit to them is one of the liberties enjoyed by the guests of Hygeia, who witness the novel sight of naval drills and the wondrous agility of the sailor boys, who run up a mast or rigging with the ease of a monkey.

The Hygeia has one big advantage over other resorts in that there is never a dearth of beaux. The garrison at Fort Monroe has about two young officers to every private and they prove a never-failing spring of joy to the ladies, who have a weakness for epaulettes, brass buttons and gold lace. If any mortals ever did live in clover up to their necks, these young fellows do. They fairly swim in a sea of bonnets, while playing soldier at the expense of Uncle Sam, and get the honors without suffering any of the hardships of army life. There is an artillery school here too and this furnishes an additional quota of beaux for the ladies to lavish their sweetest upon. If Rock Castle, Crab Orchard or Dripping Springs could furnish such attractions in the masculine line, they would have to tear down old buildings and replace them with ones doubly as commodious to take care of the crowd of fair creatures that would flock to them, for girls are not unlike the Mahomet. If the mountain would not come to him, he went to the mountain.

If prohibition prevails here it fails as usual to prohibit. Everybody drinks, including the ladies, who sip mint juleps with the ability of a veteran, as they sit on the beach playing cards with their masculine friends. Several young ladies, said to be first-class, pride themselves on the number of drinks they can put within their pretty corsets at one sitting and they run away up yonder, too. Shocking, isn't it? Can't some of our prohibitionists be induced to enter the missionary field and come here to save these lost and ruined souls? Truly the harvest is great and the laborers few here, while Lincoln has a superabundance of raw material, anxious, I suppose, to enter an evangel, which seeks the reformation of lovely women.

I had the pleasure of looking over Virginia's aggregation of distinguished men, gathered in convention to nominate a candidate for governor to succeed Gen. Lee, whose term expires next January. They were a fine body of men, much alike our Kentucky democrats, both in appearance and in their lively manner of doing things. They were exceedingly noisy at times, but always in good humor. The unanimity of their nominations show how thoroughly the party is united and how determined it is to prevent Mahone from again coming into power in the State, to which end that wily individual, backed by the National administration, is bending every nerve. The fight is going to be a terrible one, with victory finally perched on the democratic banner, but it will require eternal vigilance and unremitting effort to the end. Cleveland only carried the State by 1,500 and this has caused the republicans to place her in the doubtful column and lay the flattering unction to their souls that all that is needed to bring her over to their side is the fat fried out of Northern manufacturers, judiciously distributed to blocks of five, on the most approved Dudley patent. But they reckon without their host. Capt. P. W. McKinney will not ride in Lee's saddle to victory as his predecessor did, but he will get there all the same in great shape and in great honor. All glory to him and his noble backers, who have set their faces against the degradation of Mahone rule and consequent negro supremacy.

White Sulphur Springs, the most noted, as it is one of the most delightful, resorts in the United States, is now at the height of its mid-summer glory, though it is by no means full. That would require nearly 3,000 persons and there are not much over a third of that number here. But the guests are as usual composed of the most distinguished families of the country, who yearly flock to this great Mecca, which has been substantially improved since I saw it last. I was present at a German given to a popular young lady from South Carolina the other night and saw more finely dressed, or rather undressed women than I could take in at one sitting. Every one of the hundred or more were in décolleté costumes and as they glided through the intricate figures of the dance, a perfect sea of bare arms, bare shoulders and almost bare bosoms arose and fell in billowy luxuriance. In staid and modest Stanford this exhibition of womanly charms would have been positively outrageous. Here no one seemed to notice it, not even the beaux, who came in such intimate contact with the mass of tempting feminine flesh, natural enough to make the babies cry.

Taking the F. F. V. at 7 a. m. in company with a pleasant companion of the gentler sex, we were soon whirling down the Greenbrier, New and Kanawha rivers, which open at each curve a revelation of such rugged scenery. Knowing the road so well it was a pleasure to point out the most noted and attractive places to the young lady and to enjoy again the scenes so familiar to my younger days. At noon we ran across the Big Sandy and into old Kentucky, glad to get back into the confines of the State that has furnished me so pleasant a home for the last 15 years. For some 60 miles or more the country gives but little evidence of the brighter land beyond, but this is soon traversed and the beautiful blue-grass fields are reached, alternating with its corn, hemp and tobacco and each in luxuriant growth. It was like an entry into the promised land to enjoy this real cornucopia of beauty and abundance and to realize that plenty and prosperity promises to abide with Kentucky now and henceforth. My visit was scarcely marred by a single unpleasant circumstance and proved enjoyable from start to finish, but he it ever so humble, there is no place like my old Kentucky home to me, and I was glad to get back to it, which I did at 11 o'clock, only 16 hours out from the White Sulphur, after several hours' lay-over at Lexington and a carriage ride from Danville home.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—Deputy Sheriff Bascom M. Moore, of Mercer, died of typhoid fever.

—Mrs. Lucinda VanArsdale and Wm. Barlow Braxdale, died recently in the West End.

—The Louisville Post says of Mrs. J. D. Forrester, whom death relieved of her sufferings: "She was a lovely woman of many excellent qualities of heart and mind. Her life had not been a long one—38 years—but it was filled with many noble and generous deeds, involving sacrifice and self-denial. Beloved by all who knew her, and with whom she generously shared the sunshine of her nature, her loss will be keenly and sorrowfully felt by hundreds of friends in this city."

—Mrs. John Blankenship died Tuesday morning of consumption, after an illness of more than a year. Mrs. Blankenship was Miss Mary George and was known for her sweetness of character and the devotion she had always shown her widowed mother. She was a devout Christian and had been a member of the Baptist church since her early youth. At the time of her marriage to her husband, who now has the sympathy of all for his irreparable loss, she was an exceedingly pretty and winsome young lady and there was no evidence that that dread disease had already gotten its clutches upon her, but a year of happiness passed and then the disease began to rack her body, and since then she had been a patient sufferer, awaiting the summons to come to a better world, where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest. Her remains were laid away in Buffalo Spring Cemetery Wednesday morning after funeral services by Rev. Geo. Hunt.

—John Manning, a notorious character of Whitley county, was arrested in Pulaski, charged with raping Miss Malvin Richardson. Manning and a companion were playing cards by the river when the young lady went down to cross and the brute accomplished his designs. He admitted being guilty of the charge and was taken to Williamsburg for trial. It is hoped that he will receive the usual summary punishment.

—A trustee has been appointed to manage the estate of Robert Conser, one of the wealthiest men in Fleming county. He has dissipated his vast account on a young woman with whom he has become infatuated, in blocks of $5,000, and his natural heirs became frightened. He is over 80 years of age and ought to have had more sense.

—The last spike making the connection of the Louisville & Nashville road with the Knoxville, Cumberland Gap & Louisville road, at Cumberland Gap, was driven Sunday. The tunnel is 3,750 feet long, 14 feet wide and 23 feet from the top of the rails to the face of the arch.

—The Governor has ordered the Kentucky Militia, composed of eight companies and numbering about 350 men, to assemble at Lexington Aug. 24, for an encampment of one week.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—After a week's vacation, attending the teachers' institute at Stanford, the teachers are at their posts again feeling better.

—The sick are improving. Mr. John Edmonston is sitting up; Simon Gormley growing stronger; Mr. J. A. Bailey feeling some better.

—Tramps are plentiful about Crab Orchard, living in clover on roasting ears and potatoes, of which there is a good crop—of potatoes, I mean. The tramp crop is never good.

—Mr. J. E. Carson has been testing the producing capacity of some of his fine Jersey cows. One produced 18 lbs. and 151 ounces of butter in 7 days and a 2-year-old heifer produced 17 lbs. 6 ozs. in same time.

—Mr. McLaughlin and his two beautiful daughters left the Springs for New Orleans Wednesday. Mrs. Brent and family returned to Lexington Wednesday. Mr. Dowsley Evans and family returned to Danville Monday. Although several departures from both Crab Orchard and Dripping Springs, as many or more have arrived, keeping the numbers up. The arrivals are mostly strangers from afar. Hon. J. A. Craft has gone to London for a day or two.

—The Lancaster & Crab Orchard turnpike company comes out in self-defense. They say the bridge over Logan's Creek is perfectly safe for any load that may go over it. The span is only 32 feet and 6 new oak stringers 12x14 inches support this span. Each stringer will itself sustain a weight of 2,500 pounds, or 15,000 pounds on the bridge. The span of 32 feet allows the stringers to swing in the middle, as any piece of timber will do, resting on ends only, and the longer it lays the more it will swing.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Granville Haley and Miss Minnie Ruten were united in marriage at the bride's father's at Bowling Green, by Elder J. G. Livingston.

—Judge C. W. Metcalf, of Barbourville, brother of our Tom, will show his usual good sense on the 4th inst. by leading to the altar Miss Nettie Lucile Gray, an accomplished lady of Augusta.

—A son of Governor Lowry, of Mississippi, eloped with a young lady from California who was visiting in that State. The governor was too busy with the sporting fraternity to keep his eye on the boy.

—Miss Nannie Petticoat, a beautiful girl at Winchester, engaged herself to two men to get rid of their importunities and when the time came for the fulfillment of her promise there was a scene. They would take it time about visiting her and by tears and entreaty work on her feelings till each would leave feeling that he was sure of the prize. This was kept up for a few days, when Thos. Jackson secured a license and when she next promised to be his he had a preacher ready to tie the knot and it was done, leaving Mr. Goodman in the cold.

Humor.—Mr. W. Sutton, aged 74 years, died recently in Garrard. Greenberry Bright, Sr., is confined to his bed. Mrs. James Willmott has been sick a few days. Misses Mary Hubbard and Doretha Servers have gone to Perryville. George Dowsley, of color, left his wife and three little children and eloped with a bad woman Sunday night, besides all his creditors with the bag to hold. The meeting at Rush Branch was a success and it was no trouble to reward Brother Frank with $50 for his services. A black man came through here a few days ago selling a book called the "Ready Reckoner" for $1. After he was gone with about $10 it was found out the book could be bought at all book stores for 25 cents. He told the boys how the white man was cheating them and by the aid of the book it could be prevented, which shows they don't know who their friends are. G. A. Swinebroad and G. P. Bright have brought in another large drove of sheep from Tennessee, which are for sale. Great Barnett bought about 120 at $4.50 per head. G. A. Traylor and Hart Lane are attending the Columbia Fair this week. The colored fair will be held here September 5th and 6th. James Underwood's threshing is at work at Luther Underwood's. Logan Hubble paid his grandfather a visit this week. Mrs. Coppage and daughter, of Bradfordsville, are visiting at Joseph Swope's. Rev. Bruce will preach here Sunday. Corn in this locality is wanting rain. Fannie Gelvin is having her house re-roofed. Lee Stone has taken the contract to build Joseph Engelman's house for $130, to do wood work after foundation is laid. What has become of the Rush Branch Turnpike Company? There are many large stones on the road that need covering up. Henry Cox has bought 40 acres of land of the Bowen boys for about $1,000. Bud Cox and children paid Pulaski county a visit last week. Alex Carman reports his father very low with heart trouble.

—Robert Marvel, an octogenarian, living near Indianapolis, Ind., has gone without food 67 days. In all that time the only thing that has entered his stomach has been about three pints of water.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Judge Durham was in town this week and everybody was glad to meet him.

—As the election is over and no work to be done, Mr. Carlisle might return from his basting in Mexico and ask some further favor of his party in Kentucky.

—Miss Sallie Elkin entertained a few of her friends at Maples Wednesday evening. It was a happy gathering and is said to have been one of the most enjoyable and delightful parties of the season.

—It is said that Will Collier, Wood Dunlap and Chas. Johnston will be appointed to clerkships under Col. Collier. R. R. West, who has a position in one of the departments at Washington, is here on a visit. He is also a reverend and will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday.

—Mrs. Mary Brannan, associated with the Munnell Mission at Louisville, delivered a lecture in the Methodist church last Tuesday night. If she is as earnest as she seems to be she will do more good than a dozen preachers, though she is illiterate. Three of our churches refused her admittance. There were no ministers present, of course. If she had only intimated that she would touch 'em up lively on prohibition, she could have occupied any pulpit in town.

—Dan West, of color, who has heretofore been brazen enough to defeat all the grand juries and the State and United States courts, has finally caught it. A jury at the present term found him guilty of selling red liquor and charged him $75 for the transaction. He is now in jail. Several other times of from $20 to $50 against other parties for same offense have been returned. In the case of the Commonwealth against Sam Merritt, for hog stealing, the jury hung, being equally divided. The case against Charlie White for the killing of Jack Trimes is now being tried.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—John Proctor gave the $1,250 bond Saturday and was released.

—Mr. C. W. Ping's youngest child died Thursday at 8 a. m. of meningitis.

—Baby Rice, infant son of Mrs. Georgia Rice, died Saturday morning of catarrhal croup and was buried Sunday.

—John B. Jones was run over and killed by a train at Gray's on the C. V. branch last Saturday while intoxicated.

—W. R. Cross, of the Signal, is negotiating with Broadhead and London parties for moving his paper to one of those places.

—The Teachers' Institute was held here last week under the charge of Prof. W. E. Shaw. Much interest was manifested with good results.

—Parties backed by capital are buying lands in and around Pine Hill for the purpose of opening extensive mines. There is a prospect of a branch road being run from Pine Hill to the coal fields of Skages Creek where an abundance of splendid coal and timber can be found.

—It was at first thought that Tom Collins, who was found dead last Sunday near Line creek with a pistol ball through his head, a pistol in his hand and a bottle of whisky by him, had committed suicide, but a coroner's inquest found it to be murder. William McGraw has been arrested charged with committing the deed. Examining trial to take place to-day (Thursday) before Squire Bonner.

—Every member of President Harrison's Cabinet is away from Washington but the government still lives.

—The Supreme Court of California has refused Sarah Althea Hill Terry's application for a rehearing in the Sharon divorce case, so it seems that the adventurous is playing in hard lines all around.

—The reduction to one cent a mile by the Monon to the G. A. R. encampment at Milwaukee, is the beginning of a general adoption of that rate by the railroads, which at first swore they would not do it.

—The contract to build the 35 miles of the Three Forks road from Richmond to Beattyville was awarded the well-known firm of D. Shanahan & Co. The cost will be $355,000. They guarantee that the track will be ready to Irvine by April 1, and by Beattyville, the terminus of the road, in June, 1890.

A Woman in the Case.

There always, she is the power behind the throne. A woman's influence over the man who loves her is often absolute. To wield so great a power to guide, strengthen and help her husband, a woman's mind should be clear and healthy. It cannot be self-suffering from any functional derangement. How many a home is made unhappy because she who should be his life and light is a wretched, depressed, morbid invalid! Wives, mothers and daughters, who suffer from "female complaints" which are sapping your lives away, when Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will renew your health and gladness about you? It has restored happiness to many a saddened life. Why not dare to try when relief is so easy? In its special field there never was a more restorative like the "Favorite Prescription."

To cleanse the stomach, liver and system generally, use Dr. Pierce's Pellets, 25c.

STANFORD, KY., AUGUST 23, 1889

W. P. WALTON.

The plea of emotional insanity presented by Judge Pulliam in his defense for the murder of James Miller at Brandenburg ought not to count with a jury even of the low order of men usually selected to try the most important cases. It will be remembered that he accused Miller of debauching his wife, which he agreed to condone for $5,000 in hand paid, but Miller refused and his life paid the forfeit. The charge was barely false, but the brute wanted money and was willing to trade even his wife's honor for it. The case is one of the most shameful that ever blotted the records of our courts and if Pulliam is not hung most murderers might as well be freed. But he will not be. The jury before which he is now being tried will likely hang. He will then be given bail and when the case comes up for trial again the witnesses will be dead or spirited away and he will go forth a free man. He has too much influence and money and too many friends ever to feel the rope tighten around his neck, for Kentucky justice, to our shame be it said, is not blind to these things.

The Richmond Clinch takes President Johnson to task for appointing an executive committee for the K. P. A., which with not over two exceptions, was as poor a selection as could be made. There is some ground for the complaint, though we suppose Col. Johnson's object was to concentrate the members for the active work of next June. The committee, however, has been signally remiss in the duty of naming delegates to the National Association, which meets next week at Detroit, though we have repeatedly urged the importance of a worthy representation there. It is too late now for anybody to go, though Chairman C. M. Grubbs, on a personal appeal from us, appointed a meeting of the committee for yesterday at Lexington. If the committee is as remiss in its duties next year it is very safe to predict that the Owensboro success will not be repeated at Winchester.

A negro editor named Bryant has stirred up Selma, Ala., by the publication of an article demanding a race war and predicting the so near annihilation of the whites that there will hardly be left enough to tell the tale. The whites are very indignant, but while the fellow very certainly needs a little scaring up, it is probable that he will suffer no bodily harm. Such a stirrer-up of strife deserves to be banished, however, and this one should be made to go without any special reference to his order of going.

It was a terrific Waterloo, to be sure. Out of the 19 State Senators elected in Kentucky but three are republicans and there are but four republicans among the 19 who hold over. In the House the republicans are even in smaller majority, having lost half of the members they had before. When Buckner was elected they carried 50 counties of the 119, this time but 33 counties went for them. August 5 was indeed a cold day for Colson and his crowd, thanks to the sensible voters of the State.

The Paris Exposition is a big show and its managers do everything on a big scale. They banqueted all the Mayors of France last Sunday, when 17,000 guests sat down to fare sumptuously. It took 8,000 waiters and $100,000 worth of fine wines and viands to supply the diners—a pretty good sized spread when you come to think about it.

The Lebanon Standard not only favors Col. E. Polk Johnson for public printer, but would support a special provision giving him the enactment as well as the publication of the laws. Same here. We would not be sure of the adoption of no bad laws, such as are usually smuggled through under courtesy to the local members.

A note from Hon. Evan S. Settle, of Owen, announces his candidacy for speaker of the next House. Admirably equipped for the office and having served his party as faithfully as the next man, the members could not bestow the honor of their presiding officer on a more worthy or deserving democrat.

The Pension office has decided that a dishonorable discharge from the army is no bar to asking for and receiving a pension. Deserters, bounty-jumpers, coffee-coolers, all are to be pensioned. It is only a question of time, unless the people, tiring of paying tribute to such cattle, arise and put a stop to it.

The Lexington Transcript is fortunate in securing the services of Col. W. H. Polk, of the Drummer, as assistant editor. If Bro. Caldwell can restrain the propensity to lie, which the clever gentleman has caught since he started the Drummer, Col. Polk will be an assistant who is an assistant.

Down in Trigg county both the democratic and republican candidates for the legislature got 932 votes, when it was decided to settle the tie by lot. The democratic won and presented further evidence that it is a bad year for republicans in Kentucky.

Open light in the recent election was for Dick Warren and the democratic party and not for saloons or saloon men, as some idiotic cranks profess to believe. The prohibition law does not bother us and personally we do not care if a vote is never taken on it again. In fact, if it could be demonstrated otherwise that a majority was for it, we would much prefer that the law should remain about as it is. We fought a good fight and will continue the course we have always pursued when the opposition seeks the peril of the party to which we owe allegiance, and have no regrets to make or apologies to offer. We try to be temperate in all things and know we succeed so far as the use of intoxicating liquors is concerned, and if the temperance people will keep the matter out of politics they can always count on a faithful ally in the INTERIOR JOURNAL.

The Detroit Free Press is for the re-adoption of capital punishment, which a sentimental legislature abolished years ago, convinced the law is an encouragement instead of a preventive of crime. Death is the only reasonable punishment for murder and it ought to be inflicted with unerring certainty and celerity. The average fiend who takes human life does not fear imprisonment, with the constant hope that it offers for escape or pardon, and does not act in the slightest degree to prevent the shedding of human blood. A life for a life is the good old Biblical standard that ought never to be disregarded.

TAKING THE ENQUIRER'S account of the Leader force combining to extort from Reporter Irvine, of the Transcript, a written statement acknowledging that he had lied with reference to the "dynamite" plot, the act seems to have been a very cowardly one. Irvine is a mere boy, who could be easily handled by either of the four men who combined against him, and we regret to know that Mr. S. J. Roberts, for whom we had formed a good impression, took a hand in such an assault. If there is another side to the question we have failed to see it, but we hope for his sake that the matter has been exaggerated.

It is by no means certain that the vote for a constitutional convention has carried, even under the revolutionary forms of the Offutt bill, and it is stated that the Court of Appeals is ready to declare the act unconstitutional even if it has a majority. This being the case the antiquated document seems destined to tarry with us another season yet. The transmitters of it would feel proud of its perpetuation if they were in a condition to jubilate.

The appointment of Dr. Godfrey Hunter, who was elected to Congress in the 3d district two years ago by reason of democratic dissensions, to be a member of the pension examining board at Burkesville, is a considerable let down, but the position is about equal to the capacity of the individual.

The Legislative Committee appointed to investigate election returns in West Virginia, finds that Fleming, democrat, is elected over Golf by about 100 majority. This leaves the latter out in the cold for a season, but he won't suffer long before Harrison gives him a soft snap.

THERE will be but 22 republicans in the two Houses of the next Kentucky legislature combined and there is not one of the number who is capable of distinguishing himself. The republicans are in a bad way in Kentucky and don't you forget it.

By mutual consent we have dissolved partnership and desiring to close up the firm business, we ask all those indebted to us, either by note or account, to come and settle at their earliest convenience. Very Respectfully, McRoberts & Stagg.

A BUG got into the ear of Mrs. J. W. ALORN while at prayer meeting Wednesday night and caused her considerable pain. Dr. Peyton was sent for and released the insect from its hiding place as well as relieved Mrs. Alorn of great anxiety.

The theory that a red-headed woman possesses sufficient magnetism to draw to her view a white horse seems to be nearly forgotten, but a number of our citizens were reminded of the fact Tuesday evening, that it is really true, when they saw a very red-headed lady driving into town and they counted seven white horses in a radius of 100 yards.

THE WADDE BROK, of Somerset, seem anxious to play the INTERIOR JOURNAL another game of ball. It looks to us that a defeat such as was given them at Danville ought to convince them that we are better players than they and we are surprised that they should again want to be made to suffer defeat, which would surely follow if another game is played.

SECOND CRUISE.—When his strawberry crop had exhausted this year, Mr. Ed McRoberts cut his plants off close to the ground so as to leave them in a healthy and fresh condition for next year. They grew out sooner than he expected, however, and he is now feasting on a second crop of as fine ones as one would wish to see. He will try the same thing on his watermelon vines and expects to have a fine supply come in for Christmas.

For the last week we have felt as if in the middle of a Sunday school or some other kind of school where the sweet voice of woman is mingled in song with that of the bass or tenor of the stronger sex. The Teachers' Institute, first the white and then the colored, have been held and three times each day they engage harmoniously in songs of praise, which for the time makes us forget the burdens and toils of business, and removes us, as it were, to a "land that is better than this" and where breezes as balmy as featherly down are gently wafted.

C. O. SPRINGS.—Not for years has Crab Orchard Springs enjoyed such a patronage as it is now receiving. There are more than 250 people enjoying its delights and the crowd continues to increase instead of diminish as the season draws to a close. The place is admirably kept and the wonder is that it is not all ways full up to the top. A number of Stanford people are there now partaking of the good cheer and good fare that is dispensed so lavishly. A specially low rate is made to Lincoln county people, which they ought to show their appreciation of by a large attendance.

A TERRIBLE with the name of Smith Rowsey carved upon the shell was found a few days ago on the farm of Mr. G. A. Bonediet on the Lancaster pike. If the late Mr. Rowsey did the carving himself and the little animal was near his place when he did it, it had wandered over 10 miles from home in the 22 years since that individual bit the dust. Mr. Rowsey belonged to the notorious family of Rowses, which for a long time held this section in terror. He was killed by a squad of militia in 1867, sent here to take him dead or alive, so if he wrote his name on the terrapin's back, it must have been prior to that concluding event in a lawless life.

Go to Higgins & McKinney's for Oliver plows, the best in the market.

JESSE THOMPSON, the tonsorial artist, is back from his trip and ready to wait on his customers.

I HAVE 200,000 brick now ready for sale, or will take contracts to build houses, chimneys, cisterns, &c. W. F. Ramsey, Stanford.

SCHOOL.—Mrs. H. A. EVANS' preparatory school for Willesby and Vassar will be opened Monday, September 2d. A course for young girls who do not expect to go through college will be arranged.

JOHN MACK, formerly of this county, now a carpenter of Lexington, has been arrested there for sending the dynamite machine to Mr. Baxter, of the Leader, but he declares his innocence. Mack is said to be a discarded lover of Baxter's young wife.

The Boone County Record says that Mr. LeGrand Utz, who moved from Lincoln county to that two years ago, has discovered a gold mine on his place. We have not the pleasure of Mr. Utz's acquaintance, but we hope his find will pay out handsomely.

IT PAYS.—Mr. John Bright inserted a 3-line notice in our stock column last issue, wanting to sell some Berkshire pigs, and before the ink had thoroughly dried on the paper he had sold one and contracted with two parties for the sale of several more. Advertising pays.

The Public School at Stanford will commence on the 1st Monday in Sept., W. E. McClary, principal, Miss Cettie Thurmond, assistant. All white children within the school age are urgently requested to attend promptly at the opening. R. C. Warren, Ch'n.

THERE will be an old-fashioned democratic barbecue in Mr. W. D. Gibson's grove, near Winesburg, on Friday and Saturday, August 30th and 31st. Speeches will be made by numerous prominent men and an elegant dinner, including langos, will be served. All invited and everything free.

That dangerous plaything, their gun, came near putting out one of Howard Bruce's eyes Tuesday. Winfred Portman was shooting one when by accident a ball struck on the eyeball scaring it and plowing its way through the corner. It was a very close call, fortunately without serious result.

WHILE at Hale's Well the other night, Maj. H. A. Evans was taken with the cramp colic and the lid of a stove was heated to apply to his breast. After it was used it was carelessly thrown in the yard to cool, when the proprietor's little son, Eddie Bruce Spoonamore, trod on it, blistering his feet very painfully, though there will be no permanent injury.

The marshal of Harrodsburg arrested and brought here Wednesday a negro named Bud Vandever, with several aliases, a noted crap shooter, under the impression that he was Bud Blanks, the negro who recently escaped from the custody of the jailer here and for whom there is $25 reward. But it was the wrong man and he went back without the money.

THERE was only one bona fide bid for the construction of the water works here in response to the advertisement of the city council, which closed August 20, but as there were so many requests for further information, the body has decided to extend the time for bids. The one received is a reasonably fair one and demonstrates the idea entertained that the works can be constructed and maintained for a comparatively small sum.

A GOOD old democrat named James Garrison, who has spent the last 25 years in the backwoods of Pulaski county, came in to see us Tuesday and subscribed for this paper. He told us that he had never read nor even seen a democratic newspaper, but had read several papers of the other political faith and that he was thoroughly sick of the way the republicans ran their papers as well as their politics and henceforth he would steer clear of both and avoid all appearances of evil.

THE Colored Teachers' Institute will adjourn this morning, after a session of unusual interest, both to teachers and those who availed themselves of the opportunity to attend. Acting Supt. McClary tells us that the colored teachers as a rule are not only well informed upon the subjects taught in the public schools, but are alive to the importance of educating and morally elevating their race. Each one seemed to enter into the work assigned him with that earnestness that is so characteristic of their nature. Prof. C. C. Monroe, the conductor, is not only a man of educational attainments and apt to teach, but of a most pleasant and affable manner. His lectures were highly instructive and showed by his familiarity with them that he has made it an objective point to become acquainted with his work. Several of the legal fraternity and officers of the county court, and other citizens of the town were present, during the lectures and seemed to be highly entertained. There was a want of attendance on the part of the colored people of the community, which Prof. Monroe took them heartily to task for in his Wednesday night's lecture on the possibilities of his race.

A SILENCE fell Wednesday night and yesterday, to put the finishing touches to one of the finest crops of corn ever raised in this section.

The contract to construct all the depots on the Louisville Southern extension from Lawrenceburg to Lexington has been awarded Mr. R. C. Bradley.—Harrodsburg Sayings.

MR. W. B. CONER, a contractor on the K. U. road, was here Wednesday having advertisements printed for 50 hands to work in a tunnel in Powell county, to whom he offers from $1.50 to $1.75 per day.

THE Colored Old Fellows and Hope-well Baptist church will have a big day at Glasgow, Aug. 31, at which time $2.25 will pay for the round-trip. Rev. Wm. Feneese is one of the managers and the train will leave here at 3:27 A. M.

JOHN ENGLEMAN, late of this county, but now of Helena, Montana, is making a reputation for himself as a trainer and driver. The stable with which he is engaged purchased a young horse called Col. Bradshaw some time ago and Mr. Engleman has had him in charge since. Last week he drove him in a race in which he not only distanced all his competitors, but made the last time ever trotted in the State, 2:20. We congratulate Mr. Engleman on his success as a driver as well as the notoriety he has won by breaking the record in his State.

Amendments to Articles of Incorporation

Cumberland Valley Land Co.

The undersigned shareholders of the Cumberland Valley Land Company amend the said Company's Articles of Incorporation, heretofore filed for record August 1, 1887, in the office of the clerk of the Lincoln County Court, having theretofore been duly acknowledged, as follows:
